

Nookie Quest: Where to get

There are different strokes for different folks, and different places where different folks go to get stroked. You don't have to blend in with a particular crowd to get into a particular person's pants. San Francisco is chock-full of horny kids ready to get busy. The trick is knowing which bar or club to hit for the type you want to screw.

If you're a raver, you already know where other ravers hang out. But bedding members of different social cliques and categories will help raise your awareness of the great cultural diversity of San Francisco. Doing one person from each of these categories would be like performing a sexual social study. Ask your instructor for extra credit upon completion.

By Camper English
Illustrations by Roseanne Fox

Marketing Majors and Other
Future Republicans

In five years these folks will be yammering on about family values and working on Gavin Newsom's reelection campaign, but that's no reason not to have sex with them now!

In fact, all that self-inflicted repression and the unfortunate combination of ignorance and arrogance usually makes them freaktastic in bed.

But first you must find them. Check out the bars and clubs with dress codes, where those who wear khaki and royal blue by day slip into black and navy blue at night, where the drinks are expensive, and where everyone is trying to look richer than they are. You can find good booty amongst the snooty.

Try: The Redwood Room, Matrix Fillmore, Sno-Drift

Ravers, Tweakers, Trendoids and
Other Clubbers

The problem with party drugs and the party people who take them is what happens after the after-hours—paranoia, depression and, worst of all, shrinkage. But if you can get disco dollies in the sack early, they'll usually have both rhythm and built-up stamina they would have spent over many hours on the dance floor. Of course, you'll have to put on a techno soundtrack in your bedroom, but you can always stick in that car commercial song. To snag these types before they're worn out and useless, go out on weekdays to clubs that close at 2 a.m.

Stay away from late-night places like Ten15 Folsom and The EndUp, where the temptation is to go all night on the dance floor rather than back at your place.

Try: The Top, Anú, Liquid, DNA Lounge

some when you know what you want

Indie Rockers, Mission Hipsters and Emo Kids

Much like the Goths, indie rockers were nerds in high school. Despite the fact that there are tons of them and they seem to breed like rats, few of them know the first thing about getting laid.

Luckily, as Jesus turned water into wine, vodka turns geeks into sex gods. Though there may be high concentrations of these kids hiding behind their hair at shows in Potrero Hill and at clubs like Popscene and New Wave City, you'll have a better chance at scoring in simple bars where the drinks are cheap and nobody burns off the booze by dancing.

They like places where they feel hip and vintage at the same time.

Try: Orbit Room Cafe, Club Deluxe, Cafe Du Nord

Skaters, Bike Messengers and Other Rockers

Hardcore! Skool Sux! Let's drink PBR and smoke cigarettes! There is something about wheeling around San Francisco that turns people into angst-ridden, tattoo-covered dirtbags.

Nobody is denying that these types are hot, but they aren't exactly found in the nicest of places. Look for them in venues where the smell of the bar is stronger than the body odor—places that smell like barf or have barbecue pits or airy patios.

The real challenge is keeping up with their beer consumption until they're drunk enough to tolerate sleeping with yuppie scum like you.

Try: Hemlock Tavern, Zeitgeist, Tempest

Clueless Hoochies and Wannabe Eurotrash

You don't have to respect people to sleep with them. In fact, people you don't respect can be a lot less hassle because you'll have no problem kicking them out of bed when it's over to get a decent night's sleep.

Hoochies and Eurotrash are easy to spot—they're wearing extra jewelry, big plastic hair, far too much scent and shiny shirts that expose their chests. (All that goes for either gender.)

But you know what? You can be indie cool and talk all the smack you want, but trashy gets you laid. These people are experts. Find them in the big, obvious clubs and wild and wacky bars.

Try: Ruby Skye, Holy Cow, Elbo Room